To help you make the NATION'S Business YOUR Business

CARTER FIELD, famous Washington correspondent, is writing for this paper a weekly letter in which he explains and interprets the epoch-making events that are taking place in the national capital.

For twenty years Mr. Field has been observing and reporting the activities of Congress and administrative departments in Washington. His experience and his deep acquaintance among important men in the capital fit him unusually well for the particular task he has undertaken—that of giving you a clear understanding of what all these important developments at Washington mean to you and to other American citizens.

Mr. Field's letters appear in this paper under the heading

Wet Spots Cause of Farm Wastes Drainage Needed

The drainage of wet spots in other good lands is probably the most important improvement that can be made on land today, says Prof. A. M. Goodman of the New York State College of Agriculture.

"Those wet spots not only waste land and fertility," he points out, "but they cause greater waste in plowing and harvesting. They cause plowing and harvesting to be done in the wettest and most unproductive part of the season."

Finally a few rods of small-sized drain tile, laid so that it is about two feet under the lowest part of the wet spot, will do the trick.

The drain tile does not get through the subsoil. Do not put the drain tile in the subsoil. Do not put the drain tile in the subsoil.

Butter Fat Content Varies

Carefully checked tests show that the butter fat content of the milk from the same herd of cows varies from day to day. Errors in testing can account for only about one-tenth of 1 per cent, but the actual variation is often as much as 1 per cent from one day to another.

NATURAL FORCES AID BUSINESS RECOVERY

By R. S. HECHT President American Bankers Association

ALTHOUGH, as official studies of business conditions show, business is still far from having struck its full stride, nevertheless,

I believe that it is undoubtedly true that the natural economic process which have been brought to the aid of business are now in a position to help bring the foundations of more active and normal business conditions.
